

June 24, 2019

Missouri has seen historic flooding throughout the state this year. As a result, the Missouri Farm Bureau Foundation recognizes many students and agriculture education departments have lost resources, Supervised Agricultural Experience (SAE) projects, and more.

The MOFB Foundation has been gathering funds to distribute to FFA Chapters for assistance in continuing agriculture education and leadership development with as little disruption as possible following the floods. Please return this application requesting aid due to losses sustained from 2019 flooding.

Payments will be made to the FFA Chapter, but your application should also include damage for any students' projects within your program. Losses may include, but are not limited to, lost or damaged shop tools and equipment, loss of farm property for SAE, death of livestock, or debris removal.

Applications will be considered and funds awarded through October 2019. Please complete this application and return to: Jill Fansler - Director, MOFB Foundation for Agriculture
